

Vencomatic is specialized in the development and production of animal friendly housing systems for poultry.

The company is distinguished by innovation and a high level of service. The products are exported worldwide through an extensive dealer network.

Vencomatic is part of the Venco Groep which has approximately 450 employees at various locations in the Netherlands, Spain, China and Brazil.

Due to the ever increasing demand for new and existing products, we are looking for a

Area Sales Manager Asia

After an intensive training period the Area Sales Manager Asia will be responsible for establishing and supporting the dealer network in the Asian region. The Area Sales Manager is the main contact of the group for the dealers and end customers and it is therefore expected to contribute actively in the marketing and sales policies.

Knowledge of the poultry sector is necessary. International experience and good command of several languages is required.

The suitable candidate will have commercial experience and technical knowledge, enthusiasm and perseverance. We are looking for a strong personality with good communication skills (in English) and academic level by study or experience. The willingness to make international business trips speaks for itself. The candidate lives in the Asia area.

We offer a challenging job with a high degree of independence at a good salary and attractive fringe benefits.

For information please contact Mr. Erik Helmink, Director Marketing & Sales, by telephone on +31497-517380 or e-mail erik.helmink@vencomatic.com. Your written application with C.V. can be sent to Theo Vervoort, Director HR, by e-mail to theo.vervoort@vencomatic.com.